Supporting Diversity

Rose-Hulman will always be a special place for Dedric and Alicia Day. It's where the couple met as chemical engineering students, eventually graduating together in 2003. They went on to work with Eli Lilly and Company in Indianapolis: Dedric is now director of the company's Process Engineering Center and Alicia is director of the parenteral commercialization division. Their collaborations continue with the creation a joint diversity scholarship to support African American, Hispanic and female students.

Donors making contributions less than $250 are listed online at www.rose-hulman.edu/honorrollofdonors.
